President of SCLC endorses McGovern

DALLAS (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, formalized his disapproval of the Nixon administration Thursday night with an endorsement for Sen. George McGovern.

Abernathy also pledged support to State Sen. Barbara Jordan of Houston, Democrat running for Congress, and for Ramsey Muniz, the La Raza Unida party candidate for governor of Texas.

"Things aren't right in Texas," Abernathy said, "so we're going to elect Sen. Jordan and we're going to elect Ramsey Muniz. He's a Chicano. He's not black but he's almost black."

Abernathy then added fire to a developing feud with Dallas Mayor Wes Wise. Abernathy had promised earlier in the convention to "shake Dallas up" and Wise had responded on television by saying Abernathy was an "outsider" and he was glad the SCLC had not invited him to welcome its members to the city.

"His name may be Wise, but he is very unwise," Abernathy told a cheering crowd at the State Fair Park bandshell. "I'm like Gen. MacArthur. I shall return. I'm coming back and I'm not only going to shake up Dallas, I'm going to picket and I'm going to boycott and I'm going to march to show the inequality right here in Dallas."

Abernathy also joined Miss Jordan and Coretta King, the widow of the founder of the civil rights group in deploring the continuing Vietnam War.

"We are sick and tired of four years of broken promises," he said.

"We have a man in the White House who said he is going to end the war in Vietnam," Miss Jordan said. "The same man says he has some black support. I can't believe any black person in the world would support Richard Nixon."

Repeating a theme of "it's time for a change," Mrs. King, the widow of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., accused the Nixon administration of being unresponsive to the needs of the poor and the minorities.

"I am also convinced the President is part of high level corruption in the Republican party and that reassures me it is indeed time for a change," she said.

Mrs. King blamed the war for contributing to inflation and to the drug problem.

"This war and its problems pain me deeply," she said. "There are a lot of heroin addicts who got their problem in the jungles of Vietnam whose names should be added to the casualty lists. That's one reason why I say it's time for a change."

At one of the SCLC workshops, Muniz appealed to the civil rights delegates for their endorsement, saying, "We have both been getting cracked on the head. It's the same injustice, the same unemployment, the same discrimination."

Muniz said the Democratic and Republican parties had "sold out the minorities these many years."

"They use us to put them in the White House and then they leave us in the dog house," he said.

POWs named by Clark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ramsey Clark has made public the names of 17 men who he said were American prisoners of war held by the Viet Cong. He said he has mailed 114 letters from the POWs to their families.

The letters were given to him in Hanoi by the representative of the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government, he said.

"They're from men held by the Viet Cong," Clark said in an interview. "We don't know where they're being held."

Clark, a former U.S. attorney general who returned this week from a trip to North Vietnam, said the letters were given to him Friday night before he left the country.

He has listed the names of 10 POWs he met while in Hanoi and said he has talked by telephone with all their families.

This is the list of men and the town where their nearest relative lives:

David Franklin Allwine, nearest relative in Phoenix, Ariz.; Frank Gene Anton, Willingboro, N.J.; William Allen Baird, Apple Creek, Ohio; Michael Patrick Branch, Highland Heights, Ky.; John R. Cavallani, Ballico, Calif.; Robert P. Chenoweth, Athens, Ore.; James A. Daly, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Frederick L. Elbert Jr., Brentwood, Long Island, N.Y.

Abel Kavanaugh, Denver, Colo.; Tom Yoshinaka Kobashiyawa, Honolulu; Floyd Harold Kushner, Danville, Va.; Robert Lewis III, Houston, Tex.; Don Alan MacPhail, Chelmsford, Mass.; Isaiah McMillan, Quincy, Fla.; King D. Rayford Jr., Chicago; Alfonso Ray Riate, Santa Rosa, Calif., and John A. Young, Graysdale, Ill.

CATCHING UP on their homework, these two soldiers practice for post-Army careers as telephone linemen by getting accustomed to high level activity. They are part of the Army's Project Transition, which is designed to ease the return to civilian life for men and women finishing their tours of duty.

Anti-McGovern forum?

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Preliminaries for next week's Republican convention are turning into a forum for attacks on Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern and mark the opening stages in the battle for control of the GOP in 1976.

A floor fight over the shape of the 1976 convention was assured Thursday when the Republican National Committee approved a delegate allotment plan supported by GOP leaders and party conservatives that favors the smaller, more solid Republican states.

Party moderates, claiming states likely to back Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for the 1976 Republican presidential nomination favor the plan, hope to reverse the action at next week's convention. Even if they fail, the plan is sure to be challenged in the federal courts.

The final public session of the Platform Committee produced a sharp attack by William Ruckelshaus, the Nixon administration's environmental chief, on McGovern's antipollution proposals.

Other Republicans fired a steady barrage of criticism at the Democratic nominee for sending former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger to determine whether the North Vietnamese still planned to hold all U.S. prisoners until the Vietnam war ends.

"His meddling is reckless," declared Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado. "Shocking and an absolute outrage," said Michigan's Sen. Robert P. Griffin.

Their criticism and a White House statement that the Salinger mission could jeopardize the peace talks were countered quickly by the campaigning McGovern.

In Racine, Wis., the South Dakota senator said that hopes for any serious peace talks are being jeopardized by what he termed "a highly publicized global junket" by national security adviser Henry A. Kissinger on the eve of the GOP convention.

The major unfinished business of convention preliminaries was drafting a platform for Republicans to run on this fall.

First installments due out today were to deal with military and foreign policy and were expected to praise Nixon's winding-down of the Vietnam war and to pledge a cease-fire in Indochina once all U.S. prisoners are freed.

Rep. Margaret Heckler of Massachusetts, a member of a subcommittee working on a women's rights plank, said, "there wasn't even much discussion" of a proposal to urging repeal of laws against abortion.

The abortion issue still could be raised on the floor next Tuesday by any delegate, but it would take the majority of six delegations to force a roll-call on that or any issue.

Sufficient votes do seem available to force a roll-call vote on the reapportionment plan. Opponents of the plan approved on a voice vote by the national committee are mostly from large, urban states. They see a better chance of overturning it in the full convention than in the committee where each state has three votes.

The plan adopted by the committee gives each state a base of votes reckoned from its electoral vote. But each state carried by the GOP in the 1972 election gets 4 1/2 bonus delegates, whether the state is California or Alaska, while additional bonus votes would depend on the electoral vote of the states carried by the Republicans.

Opponents said that any plan that awards bonus delegates by states would be ruled unconstitutional.

Search for Arabs continue

ROME (AP) — The two Arabs wanted for the explosion aboard an Israeli airliner Wednesday may have sought refuge in Yugoslavia, police said today.

One of them traveled on an Indian passport under the name of Ahmed Zaid, they said, and he often went to the Communist country across the Adriatic whose government has been closely allied with Egypt in the so-called nonaligned bloc.

Police found explosives and related equipment in the Arabs' suburban apartment, as well as preparations for a victory dinner. The two were said to have left Rome as soon as they learned the plane had not been blown up.

The El Al 707 jet with 149 persons aboard returned to Fiumicino Airport after an explosion tore through the luggage compartment. The blast occurred 10 minutes after the plane took off for Tel Aviv. Four passengers suffered minor burns.

Authorities said the Arabs put a time bomb in a record player and gave it to two visiting British girls they made love to and talked into going to Tel Aviv.

The 18-year-old girls told the police the record player was "a pledge of their love."

"We gave them our love, and what did we get in exchange?" said Ruth Watkin of Newcastle.

"We could have died," said "They were so kind," said her companion, Audrey Walton of Middlesborough. "How could they not have thought that we, too, might have been killed in the blast?"

The girls gave the police photographs of their Arab lovers taken during a beach outing. The girls arrived in Rome Aug. 3 and met the Arabs the next day. The men posed as Iranian tourists, they said.

Police were guarding the girls in a Rome hotel.

FAN POWER? No. Mason Lange is merely cycling the fans to his place of work and residence in Lorain, Ohio.

Shriver:

A friendly tornado

HOUSTON (AP) — Democratic vice presidential candidate R. Sargent Shriver, coming on like a friendly tornado, made his first campaign stop in Texas Thursday and planned more appearances today.

He arrived in Houston, flitted over to Beaumont for two and one-half hours and then flew back here at a pace that left his campaign organizers breathless trying to keep up.

Tanned, relaxed and almost ebullient, Shriver waded into crowds to hammer at a theme which paints Republicans as the party of millionaires, vested interests and "Nixonomics."

In news conferences, speeches and handshaking sessions, Shriver said he and the Democratic presidential candidate, Sen. George McGovern, represented the "party with the heart," "the party of the people."

Shriver arrived Thursday at the Jefferson County Airport, near Beaumont, and shrugged off a cordon of Secret Service protection to talk with about 300 people. They had waited more than an hour in the hot sun.

He laughed and joked and waved as he went down a fence line shaking hands.

Shriver paused at a sign held by a black youngster. It read, "Let George and Sarge take charge!" He read it carefully and then burst into laughter. At another point, a group of Mexican-Americans called "good luck" in Spanish. He replied, "Muchas gracias," and grinned widely.

A crowd estimated by a fire marshal at 1,800 waited more than two hours in the non-air conditioned Lamar University gymnasium to hear Shriver.

Many in the audience were members of Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union locals and Shriver's remarks were aimed at the working man.

The Nixon administration, he said, in a staccato delivery emphasized by jabbing hand motions, is more interested in corporations than people.

"They've got TTT, but we've got Y-O-U," he said. "They've got money, but we've got heart. And on Nov. 7, the party with heart will beat the party with money."

Shriver said President Nixon deliberately increased unemployment to halt inflation, "but he didn't halt inflation... he created a recession."

As a result, he said, Nixon has created "inflation, unemployment and recession. Three in one. Nobody has done that before. It's a Nixon first."

Shriver, in shirt sleeves and his brow filmed with sweat, attacked former Texas Gov. John Connally, leader of the Democrats for Nixon.

"Connally and his so-called democrats will help us win," he said. "He'll separate the millionaires and make it clear it's nothing but millionaires for Connally and the people for us."

The crowd roared and whistled and waved McGovern-Shriver signs amid shouts of "Right on!"

Nixon negotiates with foreign leaders but the McGovern-Shriver team will take a different tack, he said.

"We intend to negotiate with you," he said. "We intend to make American number one in jobs and social progress."

Shriver's schedule today called for a breakfast with Jewish community leaders, a visit to the Houston Ship Channel, a speech before the Jewish War Veterans convention and lunch with a group of Mexican-Americans.

Happiness is... feeling comfortable

NEW YORK (AP) — Happiness for 345 high-strung American athletes headed for the Olympics in Munich is more than winning medals. It's feeling comfortable in this age of anything goes in the confines of the official U.S. Olympic team dress uniform.

Some of the 106 women-the youngest is 14 years old-reportedly are complaining that their skirts are too long. Some of the 239 men for the first time will be forsaking knit pull-overs for the privilege of tugging at dress shirt collars and ties.

During the parade of nations on opening day Aug. 26, the girls will be marching behind the American flag in red blazers, white skirts, navy and white polka-dot shirts and white Gucci-type moccasins. The men, the oldest is 47, will be decked out in white blazers, red flared slacks, navy shirts, tricolor striped ties and white loafers.

"The biggest problem we'll have," said Barbara Seegers, in charge of clothing the women's team, "is if the girls try to roll up the waistbands of their skirts."

"We've been cutting them three to five inches above the knee depending on how good their legs are. We can't make them any shorter because we have to have a decent proportion of skirt beneath the blazer."

To Save a Life—in Emergency

DEAR HELEN: I am an insurance man with the company that "sells life insurance but our business is life." This is why I am writing: I'm concerned with saving lives.

In the course of my work I must contact many doctors, most of whom subscribe to an answering service. The switchboards are usually busy, thus a polite voice comes on, saying, "This is Dr. Doe's wire. Please hold." The phone goes dead in your hands and you wait until an operator is free to take a message. This can be several minutes. Occasionally you are forgotten in the rush.

On routine calls, these minutes aren't important, but what if there is an emergency? A poisoning or cardiac victim could die in that time.

Here is my plea: Could answering service operators add, "Is this an emergency call?" If the answer is yes, valuable time would be saved—perhaps a life.

I'm sure that a short note from you, a nationally syndicated writer, would bring results, Helen. Thank you.—C.R.F.

DEAR C:

I have forwarded your letter to the American Medical Association. Let's hope it will also be read by doctors' answering services all over the country. Thanks for your life-saving suggestion.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

If our son was grown and on his own, I'd expect him to manage his own love life, but he's only 17, and has never been serious about a girl before.

Here are some of the things she does:

She ran away from home, is now living with other relatives because she can't get along with her mother.

Though she is engaged to another boy, she won't let our son look at any other girl. She threw a fit when he sat next to an old family friend (female) in

Razorbacks start workouts today

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Frank Broyles begins his 15th year as head football coach at the University of Arkansas today, with about 150 athletes expected to report for fall practice.

The group of prospective Razorbacks will be swelled this year because freshmen are eligible to play on the varsity for the first time in years. There are about 50 freshmen on scholarships.

There will be a team meeting at 6 p.m. today when playbooks will be issued. Medical examinations begin at 6:30 p.m. and Saturday is Press Day.

The players begin two-a-day drills Monday at 9 a.m.

Bengals coach says this year will be better

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals, boasting the most depth in their five-year history and a defense up-graded by the draft, should better their 1971 performance.

"We shouldn't have to sneak up on teams to beat them this year," Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown says of his team, which slumped to a 4-10 mark last season. "We think we are going to be very competitive."

The Bengals, who won the American Football Conference Central Division title in 1970, dropped six games last year by four points or less and the defense took much of the blame.

But in the draft, they picked three players who stand a strong chance of starting. They are defensive end Sherman White, safety Tommy Casanova, and linebacker Jim LeClair. Fourth-round draft selection Bernard Jackson, a cornerback, should also see plenty of action.

Regarding over-all depth on both offense and defense, veteran linebacker Al Beauchamp,

Smith leads Red Sox to victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Reggie Smith is making noise—with his bat, if nothing else.

The Boston outfielder continued to play the role of the strong, silent hero with a three-run homer Thursday night that helped the Red Sox beat the Texas Rangers 4-3.

"I don't care what he does as long as he keeps hitting," says Boston Manager Eddie Kasko, referring to his uncommunicative star.

Smith wound up a torrid, three-game series in Arlington, Tex. with eight hits in 13 at-bats, including four homers, and 10 RBI. But he refused to talk to reporters, as he has since the Red Sox came into town Tuesday.

While Smith shut communications off between him and the press, the Baltimore Orioles and Chicago White Sox played to the sound of silence Thursday. Only 655 paid customers showed up in Baltimore to watch the White Sox beat the Orioles 6-1 and throw both American League baseball races into a real traffic jam.

The White Sox inched to within a half-game of the idle Oakland A's in the West while the Orioles' lead dropped to the same margin in the East.

Closing ground on the Orioles were the Detroit Tigers, who split a two-night doubleheader with the Minnesota Twins. The Tigers won the opener 12-2 and the Twins the second game, 7-6 in 10 innings.

The third-place New York Yankees, idle Thursday, moved within 1½ games of the top, while Boston lopped off a game to three behind the Orioles.

Fifth-place Cleveland, also in contention, remained eight games behind after losing to the California Angels 4-2.

Texas had a 3-1 lead before Smith ripped a three-run homer off Mike Paul in the eighth. Smith's towering shot into the left-center field stands gave starter Marty Pattin his 11th victory in 22 decisions.

Luis Alvarado and Pat Kelly each drove in two runs in the sixth inning to power Chicago past Baltimore, which lost its third straight.

In addition to his two-run single in the sixth, Alvarado doubled to set up a run-scoring single by pitcher Dave Lemons in the second. Lemons, given seventh-inning relief help by Cy Acosta, won the decision over Baltimore's Pat Dobson.

Detroit won its opener by scoring seven runs in the second-inning. Gates Brown and Jim Northrup delivered two-run singles in the rally off Jim Perry. The Tigers tied the second game with four runs in the ninth, only to lose it on Rich Reese's sacrifice fly in the 10th.

Grand ballroom becomes tourney pit for pool

CHICAGO (AP) — In a setting of crystal chandeliers, Greek pillars, rich draperies and thick carpeting a bunch of characters are playing pool.

The elegantly domed Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel became the tournament pit this week for the U.S. Open Pocket Billiards Championships.

Spectators on portable wooden bleacher seats surround the four tables, each brilliantly aglow from overhanging banks of lights, and more fans peer down from a raised balcony.

A referee stands by each table, intoning the shots — the number of the ball into which pocket and the length of the run, the succession of pocketing balls without a miss.

It is not unusual for a player to pocket 50, 60, 100, 130 and even the ultimate 150 without a miss.

On the side tables are pitchers of ice water, towels and talcum powder.

The men cannot enter the tournament pit without a coat and tie. They hate. The ties get in the way. Some tuck them inside their shirts. Others throw them around their neck.

Tony's Pool Hall was never like this.

Quarterback problems still face Aggies and Red Raiders

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — For Texas Tech to leave its mark in the 1972 Southwest Conference football campaign, the Red Raiders have got to mature in a hurry.

Both Texas and Texas A&M loom early in the Red Raiders schedule and coach Jim Carlen goes into fall camp without a definite No. 1 quarterback.

He must decide between quarterbacks Joe Barnes, Jimmy Carmichael and Jerry Reynolds—and quickly.

Barnes and Carmichael shared duties last fall as sophomores after veteran Charles Napper was felled by a shoulder injury. Reynolds, a redshirt, came on like gangbusters in the spring, flashing a good combination of run-and-pass ability.

"Barnes was running a little ahead of the others during early spring drills, but missed the rest of the spring with a shoulder injury," says Carlen. "Both Carmichael and Reynolds showed improvement."

If Tech can get its quarterback problem set in concrete, the Red Raiders uncrank a ground-gobbling offense led by James Mosley and Doug McCutchen.

McCutchen, who rushed for more than 1,000 yards as a sophomore, was Tech's leading ground gainer in 1971. Cliff Hoskins, a promising sophomore, and unheralded John Garner of San Antonio give Tech excellent depth to make the option and I formations function overland.

Tech's receiving corps is young but promising. Andre Tillman, who is 6 feet 5, 224-pounds and can fly, will start at split end backed by sophomore Ricky Bates.

Schlee wins with cross-hand putt

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — John Schlee had a share of the lead going into today's second round in the $200,000 U.S. Golf Classic because he went against his wife's wishes.

"I went back to putting cross-handed," the lanky, graying veteran said after cutting five strokes off par with 67 in Thursday's first round, giving him a tie for the top spot with Tommy Aaron.

"I had been putting cross-handed some during the winter and spring, but I'd shift from conventional to cross-handed while I was on the course," the 33-year-old Schlee said.

"My wife told me to do it one way or the other."

"So I started putting conventionally all the way."

"Last week I played real good, hit the ball real good, but didn't make a single putt. I figured I had to do something. So this week I started putting everything inside of 12 feet crosshanded."

It staked him to a five-under-par round on the 7,212 yard Pleasant Valley Country Club course and share of the lead in the chase for a $40,000 first prize.

Steve!" the fans chanted—and he, obliged by returning momentarily to the field to acknowledge their ovation. "It felt great. I want to thank the fans. It was touching. Nothing like it ever happened to me before."

Phillies rip Reds 9-4

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a birthday present Steve Carlton had been saving for three weeks. And when he presented it to his wife, she had to share it with 53,376 other delighted onlookers.

"I was very happy I could give it to her," the Philadelphia Phillies' left-hander said Thursday night after winning his 20th game of the baseball season, the first National League pitcher to reach that plateau.

For awhile, it appeared he'd have trouble getting it. Then the Phillies unlimbered their muscles and, battering three Cincinnati hurlers for 16 hits, ripped up the Reds 9-4, providing Carlton with his 15th consecutive victory.

Elsewhere in the National League, the New York Mets edged Atlanta 2-1, Houston destroyed Montreal 7-5, the Chicago Cubs nipped San Francisco 2-1, San Diego clipped St. Louis 3-2 and Los Angeles whipped Pittsburgh 4-2.

It was about three weeks ago, just after Steve had won his 15th game of the year and 10th in a row, that Beverly glanced at the Phillies' schedule and figured he'd be going for No. 20 on Aug. 17.

"That's my birthday," she told her husband, "and that's what I want. Your 20th victory." It was a tough order.

"I haven't beaten them since 1967," Carlton said of the Reds. "You have to stay on top of that lineup ... You never can relax."

And for awhile, it looked like Cincinnati's streak against him would continue. After Deron Johnson gave him a lead with a two-run homer, the Reds jumped him for three runs in the third on Dave Concepcion's single, Bill Plummer's double, Pete Rose's single and Joe Morgan's double.

But Don Money's sacrifice fly and Willie Montanez's two-run homer in the fifth gave him a 5-3 edge and the Phils built on it with two more runs apiece in the sixth and seventh innings.

"We want Steve! We want

Steve!" the fans chanted—and he, obliged by returning momentarily to the field to acknowledge their ovation. "It felt great. I want to thank the fans. It was touching. Nothing like it ever happened to me before."

Carlton became the first player in 21 years to win 20 games with a last-place club.

Patriots rookie even eats the glassware

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Table etiquette usually isn't thought of as a strong point with football players but Jeff Kolberg even eats the glassware.

Kolberg, a rookie with the New England Patriots of the National Football League, is getting attention off the field as a hard man.

After downing the usual steak, salad and dessert, the 200-pound defensive back from Oregon State likes to finish off his meal by biting into his drinking glass, munching it for awhile, and gulping it down.

A glass-eater for many years, Kolberg said he learned the art from his older brother, a rugby player. Since then, Kolberg, 23, from Portland, Ore., has developed his own technique for consuming glass without cutting his mouth.

He likes thin glasses, particularly those with flared lips. He takes small bites, grinds the glass slowly between his teeth until it is pulverized, and swallows it. The whole process takes about 40 minutes.

"The glass out west for some reason is thinner and easier to bite off and grind down," Kolberg said during a recent glass-eating session for the benefit of newsmen. "Here, the glass doesn't break as easily when you bite it and there's more of a chance of cutting yourself. It's harder to grind and doesn't taste so well."

Taste?

"Sure some glass tastes better than others. I've eaten brown glass and clear glass and I prefer the thin, clear glass they use for beer and water out west," he said.

Kolberg, a free agent picked up by the Patriots, said his unusual hobby has not hurt him physically.

U.S. Olympic women strong contenders in track event

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — America's women track stars have in the past been considered also-rans by international standards.

With the possible exception of the sprints, American women have lagged the rest of the world in track and field. In 1968 at Mexico City, the only medals won by American women came in the 100, 200, 400, 800-meter relay and 1,600-meter relay.

The same events appear the strong suits this time around.

Madeline Manning Jackson, winner of the 800 gold medal four years ago, is back. Her winning time at high-altitude Mexico City was 2:00.9 and her best time this year is 2:01.2.

Wyomia Tyus, two-time gold medal winner in the 100, has retired and the American banner in the sprint will be carried this year by Barbara Ferrell, Irish Davis and Mattline Renter. Miss Ferrell has done 11.2 this year but three European Women have equalled the world mark of 11.0 already.

America's 400-meter entrant, Kathy Hammond, has run 52.2 but Monika Zheret of East Germany has done 51.0 and is the heavy favorite.

Miss Hammond and Mrs. Jackson, however, will be the main artillery on the U.S. 1,600-meter relay team, the girls recently set a world record of 3:33.9 in the mile relay and appear ready to win the gold in that event this year.

Francie Larrieu has run a swift 4:10.4 for 1,500 meters and could give new world record-holder Ludmilla Bragina a test.

Miss Bragina, Russia's 29-year-old veteran, ran 4:06.9 six weeks ago to boost herself into international prominence.

Patty Johnson's 12.9 time for the 100-meter hurdles is four tenths of a second off the global mark of 12.5 set this year by Annelie Ehrhardt of East Germany and tied by Pam Ryan of Australia.

Martha Watson, with an American record-equaling 21-6 this year, carries U.S. hopes in the long jump. Best mark in the world this year is 22-0½ by Heide Rosendahl of West Germany.

Most American women refuse to build their bodies up to the standards of weight throwers. Thus few Americans are competitive with Europeans in the shot put, discus or javelin.

Olga Connolly may be the only exception.

The 1966 Olympic discus gold medal winner for Czechoslovakia is 39, the oldest U.S. track and field competitor.

However, her best 1972 throw of 193-3 makes her a definite threat to most in the world with the exception of world record holder Faina Melnik of Russia, who has done 219-0 this season.

TWINS DOWN TIGERS

DETROIT (AP) — Rich Reese's sacrifice fly scored the tie-breaking run in the 10th inning as the Minnesota Twins beat the Detroit Tigers 7-6 and gained a split of their two-night doubleheader Thursday.

The Tigers raked Minnesota starter Jim Perry for seven runs in the second inning enroute to a 12-2 victory in the opener.

Reaves faces acid test against Redskins tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rookie quarterback John Reaves of the Philadelphia Eagles faces an acid test against the Washington Redskins tonight as another week-end of exhibition pro football gets under way.

Reaves impressed in his first start last weekend against the New England Patriots. The Eagles' No. 1 draft choice from the University of Florida, Reaves led Philadelphia to a 29-20 victory. He completed eight of 11 passes for 89 yards, two of them for touchdowns.

He will be facing a more experienced team in the unbeaten Redskins. Washington routed the Denver Broncos 41-0 last week paced by veteran signal callers Bill Kilmer and Sonny Jurgensen.

In addition to Philadelphia at Washington, Minnesota plays at Buffalo in another NFL exhibition tonight.

Fran Tarkenton, traded during the off-season by the New York Giants, will start at quarterback for the Vikings in his second game for Minnesota. He played his first game for his old team last week and led the Vikings to a 24-14 triumph over San Diego.

Seven more preseason games are scheduled for Saturday. Three more are listed for Sunday and one for Monday night, making it a 13-game weekend program with all 28 NFL clubs in action.

Oakland at Los Angeles in a nationally televised game, (NBC-TV) headlines the Saturday ca.d. In the other six Saturday games, San Francisco at San Diego, Miami at Cincinnati, Denver at St. Louis, Green Bay at Houston, Pittsburgh at Atlanta and Dallas at New Orleans.

On Sunday the New York Giants tangle with the New York Jets at New Haven, Conn., Cleveland battles Detroit at Ann Arbor and the Chicago Bears go against New England at Foxboro, Mass. The Monday night game has Baltimore pitted against unbeaten Kansas City.

Draw is expected in chess match

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer and Boris Spassky resume their 15th game in the world championship today with one expert predicting a draw and another saying Fischer had the upper hand.

Leading in the match 8½-5½, Fischer needs only four more points to win the title, and Spassky needs another seven to keep it. A win counts a full point and a draw counts a half.

Grandmaster Isaac Kashdan, analyzing the 24-game match for The Associated Press, said when the 15th game was adjourned after 40 moves that it seemed "likely to result in a draw."

Spassky, playing the white pieces, opened by advancing the king's pawn two squares, and Fischer went into the Sicilian defense. But this time he avoided the poisoned pawn variation for which Spassky found an answer in the 11th game.

China:

A glimpse at its people at play

By WES GALLAGHER
AP General Manager

SIAM, China (AP) — A glimpse of modern China at play indicates this country of 800 million will be a formidable competitor in world and Olympic competition in the future.

The Organization for Sports is probably the most comprehensive in the world today. The most popular sports in order are table tennis, basketball, various forms of shu (a centuries old sport once combative but now like gymnastics and scored on points), soccer, volleyball and then a number of other sports including track and field.

China and Japan lead the world in table tennis, and China should be among the leaders in volleyball, particularly girl's volleyball. Western style sports like basketball, track and field suffer from a lack of modern Western techniques.

The Organization of Sports, however, guarantees further and probably rapid progress. It goes like this:

Shensi province is of small to medium size with 21 million people. Sian is the capital. The province has 95 counties and three municipalities. These are under 21 districts.

Each sport is broken down for competitive purposes into juniors and seniors. Although the age differs, generally juniors are those below 17 years of age.

Each sport is again broken down between boys and girls. Therefore each competitive sport will have four champions—boys, juniors and seniors, girls junior and seniors.

First there is a competition for the county championship. The winners then go on for the district championship. District champions go on to compete for the province (state) championship.

Once the state championship is decided, the best players on all the teams are selected to represent the state in the national championships.

They go into intensive six-week training sessions in the sports center here under the direction of 42 coaches. Juniors practice in the morning, seniors in the afternoon.

Training completed, they go on to Peking for the national championships where the process is repeated. The best players from all teams are again selected to represent China in international play.

They live in a large Peking sports center like the one here in Sian and stay until their international competition is over under new coaches. Teachers in the sports center keep students up with their studies while they train.

Teams on the state level are usually made up of three fourths students and one fourth workers.

The tallest man's basketball player in the country is over seven feet. According to a coach here, but generally speaking players practicing here seemed smaller than Western standards.

The junior girls volleyball team practicing did have two or three players well over six feet.

Track and field apparently is not among the more popular sports and they did not have particularly good times and distances at this province level. The best time in the 100 meters was 11 seconds, 200 meters 22.5 seconds, and 1,500 meters four minutes five seconds.

However, on the national level track and field makes a much better showing. Here's how it compares to world marks:

100 meter dash—Chinese record, 16 seconds; world record 9.9. 200-meter dash—Chinese record 20.8; world record 19.8. 1,500-meter run—Chinese record, 3 minutes, 49.5 seconds; world record 3:33.1. Long jump—Chinese record 25 feet, 4 inches; world record, 29-3/4. Hop, step, jump—Chinese record, 34-1/2; world record, 37-1/4. Pole vault—Chinese record, 16-1; world record, 18-3/4.

Gymnastics were strong although much emphasis is put on a modern variation of the ancient Chinese versions which were used as a means of combat in centuries past. Today they are physical conditions. All are done with style with points counted for the best individual performances.

Physical training is given great priority and the Chinese may be the best conditioned people in the world. Each morning on rising millions flood the streets to do various forms of calisthenics. This is combined with periods of farm work as part of the political education program to keep everyone close to the peasant.

In Peking the care for national teams is long and strenuous. About 1,800 athletes live and train in the Peking complex which has a 100,000-seat workers stadium. There are gyms, an Olympic size swimming pool and all that is needed to compete in most sports. Because the food from various parts of China is different, special cooks feed the athletes the food they are accustomed to. Nothing is spared although the athletes live in spartan quarters, several to a room.

They divide the day between athletics and learning.

With 20 provinces and three municipalities (like Shanghai), 800,000,000 people to draw from, and the most organized sports program in the world, China inevitably will be a top world and Olympic competitor.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Lucy Stone married Henry Blackwell in 1855 and both devoted their lives to achieving women's equality. She prefixed Mrs. to her maiden name, which was copied by militant feminists who were called "Lucy Stoners." The World Almanac recalls. She helped organize the American Women's Suffrage Association in 1865.

There Are Bicycles and Then There Are Bicycles

such as the antique gems in the collection of a California couple, Robert and Jeanne Trepanier. Numbering almost 200 models, the collection has examples of almost every variation ever thought up on the two-wheeled form of transportation. Many involve ingenious steering and propulsion mechanisms, such as the 1885 Star ratchet drive bike above, powered by pumping pedals up and down. Above right, an 1870 Penny Farthing highwheeler, named after British coins, with a 60-inch diameter front wheel. Below left, a wire-driven bike from Germany circa 1905 and, right, an English tandem of about 1890. Either rider can pedal or steer.

Club Jack makes trouble

club. East has to hold onto four diamonds and must come down to one club also. Now South plays three rounds of diamonds and winds up taking the last two tricks with his ace-jack of clubs.

You, South, hold:

What do you do now?
A—Pass. Your partner doesn't have much of a double. If you like to live dangerously, bid either four spades or five diamonds. There is a very slight chance that game will be made.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding four diamonds, your partner has bid three hearts over your three diamonds. What do you do now?

What is it? Bacteria cultures? Rust on an aging auto? Sunrise through fog, above, and bombs away, below? Good questions, but not even close. Camera exposures taken in far ultraviolet light on the Apollo 16 moon mission produced these surrealistic NASA photos of, above, the geocorona, a halo of low-density hydrogen surrounding the earth, and, below, the Magellanic Cloud, a neighboring galaxy to our own but visible only from southern latitudes. Registered are emissions of very hot stars and patches of hydrogen in the 100 billion-star galaxy.

BE PARTNERS WITH

GOD

SUPPORT HIS CHURCH

"SHAKE, Neighbor!"

THERE is virtue in being a good neighbor. The grasp of my extended hand is my contact with my neighbor. My uplifted hand is my contact with God. OUTSIDE THE EXTENDED HAND AND THE UPLIFTED HAND... LIFE HAS NO MEANING. The greatest thing your hands can do is to build a church, and to open the Word, and to clasp them in prayer. When you build a church invite your neighbor, when you open the Word ask him to hear, and when you clasp them in prayer, pray for him.

Economy in U.S. gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has issued a prosperous report for the April-June quarter: the economy grew more than expected, corporate profits increased strongly, and inflation was lower than anticipated.

The Commerce Department said Thursday the Gross National Product grew at a 9.4-per-cent rate in the second quarter, better than the 8.9-per-cent estimate of a month ago.

The GNP revision made the economic growth during the quarter the highest since the fourth quarter of 1965, when the economy also advanced by 9.4 per cent.

The GNP is the total market value of the nation's goods and services and the broadest measure of the economy.

The Nixon administration says it will be hard to sustain the second-quarter growth. The department said the GNP from April through June rose $30.3 billion to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1.139 trillion.

Corporate pretax profits increased at an annual rate of $4.9 billion, the department said. The increase brings the profits figure to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $93.1 billion in the second quarter.

Only two weeks ago, Commerce officials told industry sources privately that second-quarter corporate profits increased by $8 billion or more, a forecast mainly based on glittering profit reports by big corporations. But the department revised its estimate when more data came in.

The department said the inflation rate was 1.8 per cent, lower than the earlier estimate of 2.1 per cent. It was the lowest rate registered since the last three months of 1971, when the wage-price freeze played a major role.

During the first three months of 1972, the economy grew at a 6.5-per-cent rate while inflation—caused by a price bulge after the freeze—rose by 5.1 per cent.

Smugglers are hitting Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Smugglers are ripping off Uncle Sam to the tune of millions of dollars worth of contraband military surplus, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff has concluded after three days of Senate hearings.

"The American government has abdicated its duty to guard and dispose of its own surplus property," Ribicoff said. "It is one of the most disgraceful derelictions of duty in the post-war period."

Ribicoff blamed lax enforcement for the recent theft of 34 one-ton Nike Ajax antiaircraft rockets from a U.S. surplus depot in West Germany.

Dealing the cards at the GOP convention

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — In tempo and in tune with the will of the White House, Republicans are readying President Nixon's GOP national convention, right on script.

If anything happens that isn't in the text, an ample cadre of administration aides and political managers is on hand to deal with it.

There has been no indication so far of major need for their services.

The campaign buttons emblazoning GOP lapels read "Nixon, Now more than ever." It is an apt slogan at a convention dominated in every aspect by the President the GOP will renominate next Tuesday.

The platform draft the party begins unveiling today is a White House production. A preliminary draft was written there. While it was condensed, indications are that there have been no significant departures from the administration text.

And while that has produced liberal complaints, it would in fact be surprising if such were not the case. Platforms are tailored to the views of candidates, and in the case of the Republicans, there is only one, Nixon.

Republican rule-makers saw to that by drafting an instant change in the regulations that will guarantee only Nixon's name is placed in presidential nomination.

"This is an exciting convention," said Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas, the Republican national chairman. "We have had differences of opinion and we have resolved those differences of opinion."

But it took a low threshold of excitement to find much in the Republican preliminaries.

Administration officials looked on — and, according to some liberal critics, prodded — as GOP panels and leaders arranged for the renomination ceremonies.

"It's almost like we were here to attend the coronation of Richard the first," said Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California, the liberal who staged a brief, futile challenge to President Nixon in the early primaries.

"Nothing will be said to embarrass the President," McCloskey said. "Nothing will be allowed to disturb the carefully staged management of this convention."

The Californian sought to have a delegate seated to cast the one vote committed to him for presidential nomination; the Republican National Committee rejected that unanimously.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York was the dissenter-in-chief for the liberal side at GOP platform hearings, and that clearly was the way the administration wanted it. For a while Javits disputed the Nixon position on some issues, and called for total U.S. withdrawal from South Vietnam. He is firmly supporting the President for re-election.

John D. Ehrlichman, a top White House aide; Herbert G. Klein, director of communications for the administration; and Charles K. McWhorter, a New York lawyer and Nixon political associate, were among about a dozen administration and campaign officials on hand for preliminaries.

McWhorter kept an eye on the GOP Rules Committee, but

"GUARDEDLY OPTIMISTIC" IS VIEW OF AMTRAK

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — "Guardedly optimistic" is the way Dan Roebuck, director of the state Industrial Development Department, feels about Arkansas' chance of getting railroad passenger service under the Amtrak system.

He said Thursday his belief came from the "strong position" taken by Gov. Dale Bumpers and members of the Arkansas congressional delegation.

People in the News

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern will be accompanied by Sargent Shriver when he visits Tuesday with former President Lyndon B. Johnson, a McGovern spokesman says.

The Democratic presidential and vice presidential candidates will go to the LBJ ranch, 65 miles west of Austin, for a political chat with Johnson, who on Wednesday announced his endorsement of McGovern.

Incomplete plans announced Thursday called for McGovern to fly from Philadelphia to Austin late Monday night. McGovern's party will spend the night at an Austin motor hotel.

Both McGovern and Shriver plan to leave Austin shortly after the meeting with Johnson. No other McGovern stops are planned in Texas at this time, a spokesman said.

BERLIN (AP) — The United States' new ambassador to West Germany, Martin Hillenbrand, crossed through the Berlin Wall to pay a courtesy call on the Soviet Union's ambassador to East Germany.

Aides said that Hillenbrand's meeting Thursday with Mikhail Yefremov in East Berlin also involved discussions of matters of mutual interest. They described the meeting as businesslike.

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Gov. Tom McCall has scotched reports that he might run as an independent for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican Mark O. Hatfield.

McCall, also a Republican, told newsmen Thursday he intends to complete the last two years of his current, second four-year term. He is ineligible by law to seek a third term.

Speculation that McCall might enter the race centered on his backing of President Nixon's Vietnam policy. Hatfield and his Democratic opponent in the Nov. 7 general election, former Sen. Wayne Morse, are both critics of Nixon war policy.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lawton Chiles of Florida has accused actress Jane Fonda and former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, both recent visitors to North Vietnam, of undercutting Congress on the war issue.

The Florida Democrat told the Senate on Thursday that he believes comments made by Miss Fonda and Clark about their visits "have created such an adverse public reaction that it makes impossible for Congress to undertake successfully any measure seeking to legislate an end to the Vietnam war."

He said Miss Fonda had let herself be used by the North Vietnamese and that antibombing statements attributed to Clark by Radio Hanoi leaves Clark "coming across as denouncing the United States."

"The result: American public opinion is affected negatively; Congress, which must have public support, is once again undercut in its efforts to find an end to the war."

Efforts to free aid program squelched

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's demand for total control over the government's legal aid program for the poor has squelched efforts to free the project from the federal bureaucracy.

The development was a triumph for conservatives who object to the frequent lawsuits initiated by federal poverty lawyers challenging state and local government practices, particularly in the welfare field.

In a surprise move, Senate-House conferees announced Thursday they were giving up rather than giving in to Nixon's specifications.

The dropped legislation setting up an independent national corporation to administer the legal aid program, leaving the two-year effort in limbo and the program under the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Nixon had recommended the shift to an independent corporation, but insisted on power to choose all of its directors with giving him only a minority of board appointments.

Groping for a compromise that would avoid a veto, sponsors pushed through a new bill giving the president power to select a majority of the directors, 10 of 19, requiring only that six would have to be lawyers.

Boyleing it down

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There is some gossip that Jimmy Caan may be slated by Hollywood for a buildup as a new male sex symbol.

"That would be nice, wouldn't it?" said the 6-foot strawberry blond actor, then added mockingly:

"But I'd have to start eating more Vitamin E and get more colorful underwear."

Whether or not he becomes another Clark Gable, Caan — after a hit role in television and then one in the movies — is on the springboard to a big film career. He won wide critical favor with his portrayal of a football hero in the ABC television picture, "Brian's Song," and also as Sonny Corleone, the fiery elder son of Marlon Brando in the smash financial success, "The Godfather."

Jimmy was slated early in life to become a businessman like his father, a Bronx meat dealer. To please his parents, he studied economics and business management at Michigan State and Hofstra College before he decided he had to follow his own high school dream of becoming an actor.

"I think acting is an art form and I like to treat it that way," he says. "I try not to take myself too seriously, but I take acting very seriously."

Caan made his Broadway debut in "Blood, Sweat and Stanley Poole," a drama in which he understudied five roles.

Caan thinks life should be a mixture of laughter and achievement. His philosophy is that of the old Persian poet who wrote, "Unborn yesterday, dead tomorrow, why fret about them if today be sweet?"

He believes his best virtue is that, "I treat everybody with respect, and I don't go out of my way to hurt anybody."

"My worst fault is that I don't want anyone to dislike me. So I bend over backward to please bastards, and this can get you in a trap."

Here are Jimmy's likes:

"Friends more than anything — women who are super feminine — sports, sunshine and horses — blue and tan colors and conservative clothes — earthy barnlike smells — lilacs are my favorite flower, as they were my mother's — bird sounds and country music — Chinese food and soda pop (I'm a freak for root beer) — a patriarchal society — children and people who are honest, fun-loving, a little crazy and eccentric, who live out their fantasies and are full of love."

And here are his dislikes:

"Cooked carrots and celery tonic — insensitivity and hatred — envy — selfish women and overdressed women — city noises and city soot — greedy people who kill the environment — anything phony — the smell of dirt, unclean air and bad people. I have a spooky nose for evil people and can smell them out in five seconds."
